

BIO.

Dr. Jeffrey Harris

Dr. Harris attended medical school at the University of Alberta and was then accepted into the Otolaryngology – Head and Neck Surgery residency program at the University of Alberta, where he developed an interest in Head and Neck Oncology. To further pursue this interest, he moved to New York City where he undertook subspecialty fellowship training in Advanced Head and Neck Oncology and Microvascular Free Flap Reconstruction of the Head and Neck at The Mount Sinai Hospital under the direction of one of the most highly regarded Head & Neck and Thyroid & Parathyroid surgeons in the world, Dr. Mark Urken. After completing his fellowship in New York, Dr. Harris returned to the University of Alberta where he entered a full-time academic practice.

Dr. Harris has over 100 peer-reviewed publications. He is actively involved in research and has written textbooks and many research articles. He has had the opportunity to travel the globe as an invited speaker, expert panelist, guidelines reviewer, and Royal College of Surgeons examiner. He has been featured on local and national TV and radio, and has been widely recognized for his teaching, research and administrative contributions.

On a more personal note, Dr. Harris is married and the father of two children. In addition to his medical practice, he has a music career as a jazz musician with an active performance schedule.